Some Provisions Announced for 1976 Feed Grain, Wheat, Cotton Programs

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz recently said there will be no set-aside requirement for the 1976 feed grain, wheat and upland cotton programs. It will be the third consecutive year for the feed grain and wheat programs and the fourth for the upland cotton program in which no set-aside was required.

Feed grain and wheat producers are not being encouraged to take cropland out of production next year, department officials explain, because even though this years corn and wheat crops are expected to be at record levels, export demand is strong. For upland cotton, reduced 1975 plantings will result in a crop approximately two million bales smaller than in 1974; also, the department forecasts an increase in domestic usage and movement into export.

As announced in 1973, there will be no conserving base requirement for the duration of the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 (through the 1977 crop year). The Secretary announced also that at that time that effective through the 1977 crop year he will not use his discretionary authority to limit feed grain and wheat plantings to a percentage of allotments and upland cotton planted in excess of the base allotment.

In 1976, as in the present year, producers may substitute any non-conserving crop (except marketing quota crops) or any conserving crop (including approved volunteer cover) used for hay or for grazing in order to preserve their wheat, feed grain or cotton allotments.

Secretary Butz said today's announcement will provide farmers with informaiton they need to make their 1976 crop planting decisions. The programs are designed to provide farmers decision-making freedrom to produce for the market place. Additional program provisions will be announced after the Department has had an opportunity additional info data.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Pennsylvania Dutch Sand Tarts

1 cup butter, softened
2 cups sugar
2 eggs
3½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla or lemon extract
Milk
3 Tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon

In the large bowl of an electric mixer beat butter until soft. Add sugar gradually and beat until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Sift together flour, salt, and baking powder. Gradually add to creamed sugar mixture and blend well. Stir in vanilla extract. Chill dough, covered, overnight. For small, thin cookies, heat oven to 350 degrees F.; for large, thicker cookies, heat oven to 325 degrees F. Roll small amounts of dough at a time on a floured pastry cloth. If thin, crisp cookies are desired, roll the dough to a thickness of 1/8 inch. Cut out with cookie cutters. Place on greased cookie sheets about 1 inch apart. Brush tops with milk. Combine sugar and cinnamon in a small dish. Sprinkle tops of cookies lightly with sugar mixture. Bake about 8 minutes, or until lightly browned on edges. If old-fashioned sugar cookies are desired, roll dough ¼ inch thick and cut with a large circular cutter.

Brush with milk and sprinkle with sugar mixture. Bake about 15 minutes, or until lightly browned. Watch carefully, as cookies burn easily. Let stand a few seconds before removing from cookie sheet. Makes approximately 14 dozen small, thin cookies.
